

SECRET

1 December 1955

DRAFT

ANNEX C TO NSCIB 3/4

Terms of Reference for the Guided Missile Intelligence Committee

1. Pursuant to the provisions of NSCIB Nos. 1 and 3 and for the purpose of strengthening the over-all governmental intelligence structure and to improve intelligence in a field critical to the national security, a permanent Guided Missile Intelligence Committee (GMIC) is hereby established under the Intelligence Advisory Committee. The Committee shall be composed of one member and alternates from the CIA; The Department of State; the Departments of the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force; the Joint Staff; The Atomic Energy Commission; and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Additionally, the Committee should include such ad hoc representation as may be required. The Chairman and Secretariat will be provided by CIA.

2. The mission of the Committee is to maintain the community approach to the problems in the field of guided missile intelligence and to give added impetus to individual efforts. To this end, the responsibilities of the GMIC include the following:

- a. Providing a mechanism for the fullest exchange of national guided missile information for intelligence purposes.
- b. Conducting evaluation of significant guided missile intelligence information and producing appropriate reports to the IAC.

SECRET

- c. Developing over-all guided missile intelligence objectives, and reviewing the collection effort to meet these objectives.
- d. Coordinating the determination of guided missile intelligence collection requirements and related activities.
- e. Coordinating the guided missile intelligence production efforts of the member agencies and, in appropriate cases, concurring in the working papers produced by member agencies.
- f. Preparing for the IAC national intelligence estimates in the field of guided missiles.
- g. Determining the deficiencies in guided missile intelligence; taking appropriate remedial action; and recommending to the IAC remedial action beyond the cognizance or competence of the Committee.